Preventive Medicine 2013 is being convened for educational purposes, so it is important your presentation remain free of commercial bias for or against any product. It is the policy of ACPM to ensure balance, independence, and objectivity in all CME activities. ACPM is required to identify all relevant financial relationships* with any commercial interest, determine whether these relationships create a conflict of interest with the individual's content, and resolve all conflicts before the educational activity occurs. The purpose of disclosure is not to prohibit speakers with such interests or relationships from presenting, but to provide attendees with information on which to base their own judgements about factors that may influence the presentation. An individual who refuses to disclose relevant financial relationships will be disqualified.

*The ACCME defines "relevant financial relationships" as financial relationships in any amount occurring within the past 12 months that create a conflict of interest. The ACCME considers relationships of those in control of the content of the CME activity to include financial relationships of a spouse or partner.

When discussing an unlabeled use of a commercial product, or an investigational use not yet approved for any purpose, you are required to communicate to the audience that the product is not labeled for the use under discussion or that the product is investigational.

All presenters are required to disclose any relevant financial interest in, or other relationship with, any proprietary entity producing health care goods or services including the manufacturer of any commercial product and/or provider of commercial service to be discussed during their presentations and with any commercial supporters of the activity.

- I (or my spouse/partner) do not have, and have not had, in the last 12 months, any relevant financial or other relationship with any proprietary entity producing health care goods or services including the manufacturer of any commercial product or device I will discuss during my presentation.
- I (or my spouse/partner) have, or have had, in the last 12 months, a relevant financial or other relationship as described below with any proprietary entity producing health care goods or services including the manufacturer of a commercial product or device I will discuss during my presentation
